so A: The MD5 is certainly valid, but it's not a unique MD5. If you look at the other files for this torrent, they're identical. The torrent file might have been downloaded using at least two browsers at the same time, and was shared with an external service with two browsers. So to protect themselves, the author started generating unique hashes on the HTTP response to the download request. Since this isn't unique, there's no need to protect your own hash. $12 + z^{4/12} - z^{3/6} + z$. Let $s(t)$ be the first derivative of $p(t)$. Is $s(0)$ prime? True Let $v = 8 - 5$.
